PERPLEXING

Attach Objectional Amendments to the Irish Home Rule Bill.

Twelfth of July Passes Over and Exposes Orange Bluff.

Hope Still Entertained That the Government Will Stand Firm.

THE CRITICAL POINT REACHED

While there has not been much news from Ireland this week the situation pertaining to the home rule bill is rather perplexing while yet hopeful. Cabling the press last Sunday, Hon. T. P. O'Connor declared that superficially the chances for the settlement of the Irish question never seemed more hopeless. The changes by the Lords rob the home rule bill of almost every form of self-government. Control of the amending bill comes to the House of Commons to give it a second reading, and if the second reading be refused then the original home rule bill will become a law and the Government will have to face threats of civil war by Ulster extremists. But a considerable interval remains before these things can be put to the test, which gives hope for belief that the Government will stand firm and not surrender.

Despite premonitions of trouble the Twelfth passed without any disturbance throughout Ireland and made apparent and ridiculous the bluffs of the Orangemen and opponents of home rule. Press dispatches say the recognition of the danger inherent in the existence of two armed volunteer bodies seems to have imbued Irishmen with a sense of added responsibility, for the Battle of the Boyne was commemorated in Ireland with tremendous enthusiasm, but with less disorder than in previous years. Following the custom, a procession marched from Belfast to Brumby where Sid Edward Carson, the Ulster Unionist leader, made his now familiar speech defying the Government either totally to exclude Ulster from home rule or come out and fight. Lord Londonderry at Enniskillen, and Walter Hume Long, Unionist member of Parliament for Strand, at Glenties, made speeches in a similar vein to other big gatherings of Ulstermen, but no disorders were reported at any point.

The Louisville Herald, always just in its treatment of the home rule question, sums up the situation truthfully, saying that first the Orangemen and Tories prepared for Boyne day. Then the great day arrived. Already we have reached the day after. And what was the result? In the awful clash of Ulster volunteers and Nationalist volunteers; in the staged and programmed encounter of these earnest, sturdy men, armed and angry, incensed and overwrought, what of the conflict? The smoke had cleared away; the ambulances are ready and waiting; the war correspondents burden the wires with copy; the gun-runners have delivered the goods—bring on your dead and wounded, King Carson; sheath your ensanguined falchion; let us treat of peace. And King Carson, whether he confess it or not, knows and knows that all the world knows, that it wasn't so much as a sham battle; scarcely so much as a dress rehearsal; just a ridiculous, provoking opera bouffe. The Ulstermen parade, defiant and determined and barring a few jeers, for all the impression they make they might have omitted the military promenade. The troops are and are in their barracks. The Nationalists remain at home. But it was a great day for the innkeepers. Thousands of visitors trooped into Belfast and Derry to see the fun and witness the fracas; they returned feeling that the show was not up to the advertisement, that they had been swindled.

There's been a great deal of nonsense written about an Ulster Protestant and Unionist. At a matter of fact her existing representation in Parliament is all but evenly divided, and a poll as to creeds shows parallel results. One or two counties are some 75 per cent. Protestant, and the Protestants are of every known variety. The remainder favor the Catholic side, which is not to say that a religious line can be drawn that shall at the same time be a border line in politics. Were not Isaac Butt and Charles Stewart Parnell, home rule's first two leaders, both Protestants? If ridicule can kill, the Carson-Iacso should write the doom of a movement for which there was never a valid excuse. What is good for the rest of Ireland will be good for Ulster, and the terms of exclusion already granted are such as to meet all reasonable fears.

Tuesday the House of Lords passed the third reading of the bill to amend the home rule measure and sent it to the House of Commons for consideration, which may be given next week. With regard to the amendments adopted by the House of Lords the Liberal Lord Morley declared their effect would be to embitter relations and increase the difficulties of a settlement. They amounted virtually to an elaborate method of rejecting the bill. It would have been far more straightforward, he declared, if they had voted for Lord Willoughby de Broke's motion for the rejection of the amending bill.

CONGRESS AT LOURDES.

The twenty-fifth Eucharistic Congress will be held this year at Lourdes from July 23 to July 26. The object of these yearly celebrations is to gather together to one center Bishops, priests and laymen from all parts of the Christian world, under the approval and blessing of our Holy Father the Pope, in order that by united study and prayer they may help to make Christ Our Lord better known and more loved in the Most Blessed Sacrament of the Eucharist. The happy thought has occurred to those in charge of this year's congress to associate all Christendom with the celebration. An appeal has therefore been issued to all nations to join in the devotions of the congress, and especially during the closing procession on Sunday, July 26, to combine in a simultaneous and world-wide act of faith and love toward Christ in the Most Blessed Sacrament, acknowledging Him to be their King and Lord, and making some reparation for the attempts so general at the present to thrust Him out of his own kingdom. There is in the earnest desire of Holy Mother Church that Catholics throughout the world should receive Holy communion on Sunday, July 26. By a concession of the Holy Father granted on January 24, 1912, all Catholics throughout the world who receive Holy communion on Sunday, July 26, in union with the congress, gain a plenary indulgence applicable to the souls in purgatory.

VINCENTIAN CELEBRATION.

Tomorrow morning the many Louisville conferences of the St. Vincent de Paul Society will attend high mass at St. John's church, at 7:30 o'clock and receive Holy communion in a body. For years past this has been the custom of the Louisville Vincentians, and as tomorrow will be the anniversary of the day on which Pope Clement XII. ordained that St. Vincent's memory be celebrated, it is expected that the turnout will be the largest ever witnessed here. Rev. Father Schumann will be the celebrant of the mass and preach the sermon. It was at St. John's that the first Vincentian conference in Louisville was organized. The general meeting will be held in the Knights of Columbus hall on Fourth street at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, when the year's work will be reviewed.

PIPE FOR RAIDY.

Charles S. Raidy, who was recently promoted from carrier to Superintendent in the local Post-office, received a letter the other day as a little token of esteem from some of the residents on his carrier route, the present being an especially valuable one of its kind and bore a card with the best wishes and regards of the following donors: Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Allen, Nick Varisse, Arthur C. Weiss, J. H. Blumers, Mrs. C. R. Mrs. S. A. Moore, Miss Frances W. Helser, Mrs. Sam Stites, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Steltenpohl, Miss Rose Conroy, Frank L. Lanahan, Lawrence Kinsella, William C. Schott, James Mullarkey, John T. McQuese, A. A. Andriotti, Tom Duddy and Robert Osborne.

CATHOLIC KNIGHTS.

A rousing meeting of the Central Committee, C. K. of A., was held Friday night in St. John's Hall. President Ben Kruse, Secretary Henry Schulten and all the officers were present, as was also the State President, Col. John J. Score. After reports had been read and acted upon the committee decided by unanimous vote to give its annual excursion to Jasper, Ind., on Sunday, July 16. The Entertainment Committee was instructed to get busy and make arrangements with the railroad officials for the accommodation of at least a thousand people. Peter J. Dowling of Branch 4, delivered an address that was appreciated by those present, and Col. Joe McGinn, State Secretary Meehan and Gen. Michael Reichert declared their approval of his suggestions.

THE ORPHANS' DAY.

The St. Joseph's Orphan Asylum Society has perfected every arrangement for the festival to be held next Wednesday on the asylum grounds, Crescent Hill, for the benefit of St. Joseph's Orphanage. For the past month the various committees appointed from the twelve branch societies have been planning for this event, which they feel confident will surpass all heretofore given. At the meeting last Sunday final reports were submitted and the programme approved. For old and young there will be all kinds of games and amusements, with handsome booths and rotaries presided over by young ladies from the different German Catholic congregations. There will be an abundance of refreshments of every kind, and first class meals will be served in the dining room, which is equipped with electric fans. During the afternoon and evening there will be a band concert and several choral societies, and at night there will be a brilliant electrical display and illumination. The Walnut street cars pass the grounds every five minutes. For a few hours of real pleasure visit this festival and help the orphans.

M'CREARY

Supporter Gives Reasons Why Governor Should Be the Nominee

And Incidentally Throws Broad-side Into Camp of Beckham Forces.

Contrast in Haley's Attitude
With That of a Few Years Ago.

DOBBS PERPETUAL CANDIDATE

The Kentucky Irish American is in receipt of a communication from one of Gov. McCreary's Louisville supporters in which is urged the nomination of the Governor for United States Senator, the writer claiming that his nomination would cement all factions and insure victory for the ticket in November. The writer also takes a fling at the claim of the Beckham managers that the nomination belongs to the congress, gain a plenary indulgence applicable to the souls in purgatory.

Louisville, Ky., July 15, 1914.—Kentucky Irish American—Gentlemen: The Democrats of Kentucky have one chance to nominate a sure winner for the United States Senate, long term. That one man is Gov. McCreary. In a long public career he has made a record so clean and strong that all the efforts of his opponents in every race have failed to show anything uncomplimentary. Gov. McCreary is a temperance man—a sober temperance man. He has given the State of Kentucky the most important temperance legislation now on the statute books. In the platform convention three years ago he dictated the county unit plank and it was entirely satisfactory to the temperance organizations of the State. Not only did he do this, but he had the Legislature of 1912 to pass a law conforming to that plank. Then in 1913 the temperance organizations asked for an amendment to strengthen the "dry" laws and he used his influence to pass that. His record and his position on this question stands out clean and clear.

Six years ago the Democratic nomination for the high office of United States Senator was thrown away. Surely the Democrats do not want to take the same chance again of allowing the Republicans to elect the Senator. During his office-holding career of sixteen years, Mr. Beckham antagonized so many people and brought upon himself the undying hatred of so many different factions in the party that he destroyed whatever opportunity for usefulness he might have had. Mr. Beckham stated in his speech at Louisville that his defeat six years ago was a personal defeat. That is true. But he overlooked the main point. The defeat of the Democratic nominee was a party calamity. He forgets that the loss of the Senatorship was more regretted by Democrats as a party loss than by Mr. Beckham's personal loss. No man is bigger than his party. A nomination is not personal property. It is a party asset. A nominee who finds that his personal record defeat the party should turn the nomination over to one who can win. That is what Mr. Beckham should have done six years ago when committees of good and loyal Democrats urged him to do so. Had he been wise enough and unselfish enough to have yielded to some other Democrat who could win, Mr. Beckham would have been in a very much better position today. Kentucky Democrats can not afford to nominate any man for a large office who must depend upon Republican votes for his election. He can not get them. Respectfully yours, Anti-Beckham Democrat.

The above is a sample of the many arguments advanced why Democrats in no way way compromise the Beckham candidacy, the McCreary and Stanley supporters continually bombarding the Beckham forces, putting Beckham and Haley very much on the defense and in the role of supplicants to the Louisville Democracy for support, this being in striking contrast to the attitude of Haley only a few years ago, when he stated publicly in the Seelbach Hotel lobby that he didn't give a snap of his fingers for Louisville Democrats and used language more ferocious than polite in expressing his disdain of the Democratic party in a Louisville and Jefferson county. It's a long lane that has no turn, and pleasing indeed was the spectacle of Gen. Percy squirming in his seat under the awful grilling given him by Congressman Stanley in his speech at the National Theater last week, and of which the local Democrats are still talking. Senator Huffer, Chairman of the local Stanley campaign, state that he is more than pleased with the outlook and predicts a nice majority for his candidate.

The Louisville Herald daily discusses the political situation from a Democratic standpoint, with a few bouquets now and then for Messrs. White and Gardner, the Progressive candidates in the primary for Congress, but what is puzzling to many absolutely refuses to mention the third candidate, Attorney William Heck, who did the Pinogano act, by getting in and out of the race every other day, and now announces that he is in to stay.

COMING EVENTS.

Tuesday, July 21—Hibernian annual reunion and picnic at Phoenix Hill Park.

Wednesday, July 22—Orphans' Festival, on grounds of St. Joseph's Orphan's Home, Crescent Hill.

July 27 and 28—Midsummer lawn fete for Sts. Mary and Elizabeth Hospital, on grounds at Twelfth and Magnolia.

Monday, August 3—Picnic and fish fry by the Passionist Fathers at Phoenix Hill Park for St. Agnes church.

August 17 and 18—Holy Cross lawn fete and chicken supper on church grounds, Thirty-second and Broadway.

Thursday, August 27—Annual reunion and picnic of St. Leo's congregation, on grounds adjoining church, Highland Park.

The Socialists have again chosen Charles Dobbs as their candidate for Congress, this being the 'tenth time Dobbs has gone to the post without ever being able to make a ripple in the race, but it is rumored that they save money in their printing and advertising matter by having the announcement of Dobbs for Congress on the 'Socialist ticket' without any date, thereby using the same material each Congressional race.

NECESSITY

Modern and Comfortable Boarding Home For Catholic (Women).

Meeting Plans Ways and Means
For Maintaining Visitation Home.

Will Give Big Lawn Fete at Spring Bank Park Next Thursday.

MOST DESERVING UNDERTAKING

The Catholic men and women of this city are of the unanimous opinion that no city of Louisville's size and wealth should be without a strictly modern and comfortable boarding home for Catholic working women. This most important subject has been long and seriously discussed, and realizing that such a home, well equipped and affording comfort and sheltering care under the direction of the kind Sisters of Mercy, is not only a bulwark of strength to the Catholic community and a convincing exponent of Catholic spirit and work, but that it is also a sociological necessity to the city at large, prominent and representative members of all parishes held a meeting on Monday evening at the Visitation Home on Walnut street, between Sixth and Seventh, to plan ways and means for the solid establishment and maintenance of the Visitation Home for Working Girls.

This home will take the place of the Catholic Woman's Club established some years ago, but which was not accorded the support required for such an institution. Recently the Sisters of Mercy, who have had a wide experience in the conduct of women's homes, took full charge, and there is now every reason to believe that the hopes of its founders will be fully realized and that under the new charge the institution, to be hereafter known as the Visitation Home, will soon become self-sustaining. Few appear to realize the benefit such a home is to the young women of a city like Louisville, and when its purposes and work become generally known its future should be assured. Every Christian citizen should feel a pride in assisting the good Sisters of Mercy in caring for the innocent and friendless young girl or woman who is seeking employment and surroundings that will safeguard them from the evils that confront those without friends.

At the meeting noted it was unanimously decided to give a grand lawn fete in the interest of this most worthy undertaking at Spring Bank Park on Thursday, July 23, to which the general public is invited. This fete will be one of the biggest of the kind ever held here, and all the details are being worked out in a hurry. Each one is so engrossed in the work that this big out-door party bids fair to be the success of the season. The respective committees are in charge of the work, each determined to bring his or her part of the work to a successful finish. They are as follows:

General Manager—Jacob Hub-buch.
Treasurer—Al Smith.
Pres.—John P. Cassilly, Miss Anne Carr, Mrs. A. N. Cunningham, Miss John Doyle.
Vice Pres.—Mrs. Charles Smith.
Dining Room—Mrs. J. P. Dant, Emre—Mrs. John Schriker.
Lodges—Mrs. Dan Murphy.
Ice Cream—Mrs. Frank Dugan and Mrs. Jennie Kirkup.
Refreshments—Mrs. John Buschmeyer.
Coffees—Mrs. George Hoertz and Miss Kate Collins.
Soft Drinks—George Welsh.
Final meeting of those interested will be held Monday night at 7:30 o'clock at the Visitation Home, where the completed arrangements will be made known and additional appointments announced.

BIGOTS

Their Campaign of Slander Prelude of Outbreak to Come.

Occasion For Revealing Bitter Animosities Against Catholic Church.

Character of Promoters of a Unique and Unparalleled Movement.

CENTENARY OF LUTHER'S REVOLT

The year 1917 will go down in the annals of religious bigotry as the white heat period of the present flame of anti-Catholic agitation that is being fanned into greater fury from week to week. The 1917 movement has enlisted in its cause all the journalistic scavengers from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the Great Lakes to the Gulf. Furthering the movement is a press which is a combined circulation of several millions. Secret societies have sprung up under the guise of patriotism to make the year 1917 the banner year of their activity. No reference is made in the bigoted press to the 1917 movement for fear that the plot would be nipped in the bud, but in their private correspondence and at their secret meetings the plan is extensively discussed. The present campaign of slander against the Catholic church is but a prelude to a violent outbreak that is to come.

Why has the year 1917 been singled out? In the year 1917 the centenary of Martin Luther's revolt against the church will be observed. Protestants of this country would as a matter of course celebrate this event. If left to itself the celebration would merely assume a religious aspect without revealing any bitter animosity against the Catholic church and its adherents, but once committed to the furor of anti-Catholic bigotry it would develop into a rabid anti-Catholic demonstration which would eclipse the Know-nothing and A. P. A. agitations.

Though sufficiently numerous to cause alarm, the secret promoters of the present anti-Catholic campaign are not so numerous as the realizers of the sinister designs. Hence the secret fraternalists that owe its origin and inspiration to opposition to the Catholic church has assumed the name of the Knights of Luther, an organization that is spreading all over the country. The aims and objects of the Guardians of Liberty, such men as Gen. Nelson Miles in their ranks, are no sealed book. Then there is the American League of Patriotic Voters, whose design is to get men into Congress and into State Legislatures who are pledged to their anti-Catholic platform. A chain of publications is concentrating its efforts in reviling and slandering the Catholic church and its priesthood.

An effort which is meeting with some measure of success is the endeavor to gain the Masonic lodges for the dastardly work. The following throws some light on this phase of the work: James Cooper, writing as a Freemason to the Continent (Protestant) recently says: "First—I am pleased to read your article on the circulation of detestable forgeries of oaths of Catholic societies, which are being so extensively circulated at present. It seems incredible that any one of ordinary common sense can not see the absurdity of any such things on the part of any class of people in this twentieth century. But I am sorry to say that the Masonic fraternity are being dragged into it by some men who evidently have not learned the first principles of Masonry."

"Second—I have seen three of these epidemics of anti-Catholicism—the Know-nothings, the A. P. A. and the present one, it does seem strange at a time when the whole trend of civilization is in the opposite direction, when countries practically all Catholic are divorcing Church and State. They must be a brave lot who fear that one Catholic can control seven Protestants in this country."

Another factor that is to be reckoned with is the political alliance of the Socialist movement with the anti-Catholic campaign. In Milwaukee, for instance, the Guardians of Liberty circulated leaflets indorsing the Socialist candidates. The moral support of Socialists is of course assured. Socialism regards the Catholic Church as the one great obstacle in its way, and hence will lend its aid to any movement directed against the church. These facts disclose a grave situation. The disastrous tendencies of the anti-Catholic movement are not to be underestimated. Apathy and incredulity must be shaken off. The forces of bigotry must be repulsed. The influence of publications like the Menace must be counterbalanced. If there is one potent factor that is equal to this task it is the press.

CONDUCTS RETREAT.

The Rev. Cletus Brady, C. P., rector of the Sacred Heart Retreat on the Newburg road, is conducting a retreat for the Magdalen class the Good Shepherd Convent, Eighth and Madison streets, which will be concluded next Wednesday. Father Brady returned last week from Akron, Ohio, where he officiated at the marriage of his brother, Emmet Brady.

NEW PRIOR HERE.

The Very Rev. Timothy Leonard Crowley, O. P., the recently elected Prior of St. Louis Bertrand Convent, has entered upon his duties as pastor of the Dominican church. Father Crowley is a native of Boston, Mass., and having made his collegiate studies at Boston College, entered the Dominican order, where he received the traditional training to fit him for the priesthood. During his scholasticate at the House of Studies, Washington, D. C., he enjoyed the additional advantages of the post graduate courses of the Catholic University. During his term of assignment at the Church of St. Antoninus, Newark, N. J., Father Crowley won distinctive success in pastoral duties, especially in the efficient management of the Holy Name Society. For the past six years he has been in charge of the English department of Aquinas College, Columbus, Ohio, and Spiritual Director of the Ohio State Reform School for Boys. These offices Father Crowley has filled with signal tact and sympathy. He comes to the position of a leader in the ways that tend toward God. The members of the parish will welcome Father Crowley and will be happy to assist in promoting the spiritual and temporal well being of St. Louis Bertrand's parish.

HIBERNIAN PICNIC.

All indications point to a banner crowd at the annual picnic and reunion of the Ancient Order of Hibernians at Phoenix Hill Park next Tuesday, many looking forward to this date with a great deal of pleasure in anticipation of meeting old friends and acquaintances that they do not run across at any other time in the year. A special program of Irish music and dances has been arranged by the Emerald Hibernian Social Club, which will have entire charge of the dance hall, the special committee promising a clean and high class order of dances. County President W. J. Connelly has appointed the following committees for the different concessions: Gate and Box Office—Thomas W. Tarry, Henry McDermott, Walter Cusick and Thomas Keenan. Refreshments—John T. Keane, James Welsh, C. J. Ford and Dan O'Keefe.

Others—John Maloney, John Hession and John Hession. Music—James L. J. Meany, Thomas Faragher and Patrick Connelly.

As stated before, the Dance Committee is arranging for several old time reels and jigs, also breakdown quadrilles, for the benefit of the older folks, many of whom are still able to shake their feet with the best of them. The proceeds of the picnic will be donated to charity and the members of the four different divisions are putting forth their best efforts to have a big sale of tickets in advance of the picnic date.

PRIEST MAYOR SPEAKS.

The Rev. Father Patrick R. Dunigan, priest mayor at Lapeer, Mich., was greeted by a large audience at the Glenwood Chautauqua Assembly at Glenwood Park, New Albany, Tuesday night. His subject was "The Decline of Religious Bigotry." Preceding the address the Rev. Father William F. Seibert, pastor of St. Mary's church in New Albany, in behalf of the management of St. Edward's Hospital, publicly acknowledged the receipt by that institution of a check for $200, representing the fee of former Vice President Fairbanks, who lectured at the Chautauqua Assembly Sunday night and donated his fee to the hospital, expressing the thanks of the management to Mr. Fairbanks for the gift. The speaker of the evening was introduced by the Rev. Michael Halpin, pastor of St. Augustine's church in Jeffersonville and former associate pastor of Holy Trinity church in New Albany, in a brief but eloquent address.

TAKES SOUTHERN BRIDE.

Cards have been received here announcing the marriage at Jacksonville, Fla., of Logan N. Rock, the well known young Louisville attorney, and Miss Lillian N. Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Washington Davis, a most lovely young lady and a favorite in Jacksonville society circles. The bride and groom are now on an extended honeymoon trip, and will return to make Louisville their home after August 15. Congratulations of a wide circle of friends are extended the happy couple.

FATTENING CHICKENS.

Alderman Barney Campbell, Deputy Assessor Edward Brennan, Joe Fontana and many other West End residents are now occupied in fattening chickens for the supper and lawn fete to be given for Holy Cross church on the church grounds on August 17 and 18. They intend to barbecue the fowls in every way and outdo anything ever held at Spring Bank.

GREETED BY FRIENDS.

Col. William J. O'Hearn, who has just passed through a critical illness, is again able to be out and is being warmly greeted by his legion of friends. Though still somewhat weak from his long confinement there is every indication that his health and strength will soon be fully regained.

CONVERT

Who Filled Many Trying Posts
in the New York Diocese.

Mgr. Thomas Preston Founded
Sisters of the Divine Compassion.

Guard His Earthly Remains in Chapel at White Plains.

WAS AN EPISCOPAL MINISTER

By James A. Rooney.
Many converts to the faith have achieved distinction and won pre-eminence without seeking it, and among such the career of Monsignor Thomas Scott Preston, the founder of the Sisters of the Divine Compassion, is a conspicuous example. His spiritual children venerate his name and they guard his earthly remains in the mausoleum of their chapel at White Plains, N. Y.

He was born at Hartford, Conn., July 23, 1824, of Protestant parents, and being reared a Protestant, he was honest in his belief that the Protestant Episcopal church was a true branch of the Catholic church until he became convinced that he was in error in this belief. By the grace of God he arrived at this conclusion from his own deep study of the history of the church and of the fathers and that without reading any distinctively Catholic books and without even consulting any of his many friends among the Catholic priesthood. And as soon as he became convinced of the truth of Catholic doctrine and teaching he recognized his obligation to accept it.

But this did not convert him in his career nor until after he spent three years in the study of the faith of his birth. Then he took his classical studies and in 1848, when he was 24, he was ordained an Episcopal minister in New York.

That must have raised to the deaconate he was refused ordination by his own Bishop and that ceremony was performed by Bishop Delancey, of Western New York, in 1846.

His ministry in the Episcopal church was brief, for after three years, on November 14, 1849, he was received into the church by Father (afterward Bishop) James Roosevelt Bayley. He took a brief course in Fordham Seminary and was ordained by the Right Rev. John McCloskey, then Bishop of Albany and afterward the first American Cardinal. His first assignment was to duty at the Cathedral and two years later he was appointed pastor of St. Mary's church, Yonkers, where there are now fourteen Catholic churches and a Catholic population of about 75,000, and besides he attended Dobbs Ferry and Tarrytown as out missions.

After two years of laborious work there he was selected by Archbishop Hughes as his secretary to succeed the Rev. James Roosevelt Bayley, who on October 30, 1852, was consecrated Bishop of Newark. Two years later he was made Chancellor of the diocese, which office he filled to the entire satisfaction of three successive Archbishops.

In 1861 he was appointed pastor of St. Ann's church, New York, where he erected a new church building and a school. In 1873 he was made Vicar General of the diocese, receiving the dignity of Domestic Prelate in 1882 and Prothotary-Apostolic in 1888. He died November 4, 1891, and Archbishop Michael Augustine Corrigan officiated at his obsequies, while Archbishop Patrick John Ryan, of Philadelphia, preached the funeral discourse.

Father Preston was a most devoted priest, a zealous pastor and a rare executive, while an exquisite refinement of manner and an absolute loyalty to the church and to his superiors were distinguishing traits of his character. With all his laborious duties imposed upon him in the various responsible positions he filled he found time to give Advent and Lenten conferences that attracted immense congregations, and to write many books of a devotional and controversial character.—Copyrighted.

SUPPORT NATIONALISTS.

At the meeting of Division 4, A. O. H., Monday evening in Bertrand Hall, a communication was read by Secretary Langan from the Irish Nationalist party, urging contributions from the friends of home rule for the purpose of purchasing arms to equip the Irish Nationalist volunteers, who are fast being organized in Ireland as a defensive measure against Carson's Ulster Orangemen. It is expected that the County Board, A. O. H., will take up the matter and forward a substantial contribution for the cause. Capt. Fergus Kennedy, of the fire department and member of the division, was reported as entirely recovered from his recent injuries. President John Hennessy requested everyone to boost the County Board picnic next Tuesday, and stated that ticket returns should be made right away to himself or Treasurer Patrick Connelly.

FOR LABOR DAY.

The first Monday in September is set aside for the laboring man—to him who in the sweat of his brow earns his bread. To him is this day dedicated. The day is held sacred by millions of people to observe the dignity of labor, to encourage the heartless and cheer the weary and spread Christ's teaching that he who robs the workingman of his wage robs his own soul. Labor day therefore has an unusual significance, and in its honor fitting celebrations are held in all the large cities of our country. To the Catholic priest this presents an unique opportunity to speak of the church and labor, not only of Christ's teachings, but the encyclical of Pope Leo, the Rerum Novarum, and of Bishop Ketteler, and of the present day relation between church and trade unions. Now is the time to provide for this occasion. Labor day is on Monday, not Sunday, and should be observed on that day. In places where the day is publicly observed high mass and a sermon should be held before the usual parade. Catholic trade unionists should assume the responsibility of providing the mass and sermon. Priests should endeavor to extend an invitation to all—send out invitations, bearing the union label, to all Catholics and non-Catholics. The efforts of both priests and trade unionists will be repaid immeasurably, for the workman will not forget that Christ loves him and that the church will stand by him.

FAIR PRIMARY.

When, and especially when, is for a fair The Evening Post's fair vote, by the opinion from you. It is a rational to knock out the bar and because of the said:

"On a fair count and with all the registered Democrats participating, Louisville is overwhelmingly for Beckham, but all the registered vote will not come out, and some men may try to do a little stealing."

To be sure, unless Beckham carries Louisville by an overwhelming majority, there will be fraud at the polls from Mr. Knott's viewpoint, yet the Post from day to day assures its readers that Chairman Frank McGrath and Mayor Buschmeyer will do all in their power to see that the primary is fairly conducted, and these two men, by virtue of their positions, will be a large factor in seeing that the primary is fairly conducted. The primary can not help but be fair. Mr. Knott knows this as well as anybody.

No man of ordinary reasoning powers will contend that "Louisville is overwhelmingly for Beckham." It is but natural that he would be opposed by the distillery and brewery owners, their thousands of employees, the manufacturers of bottles and barrels, the bankers who furnish the money and the saloon-keepers and druggists who pay big license, who will not be found shouting or voting for one who would confiscate their property, destroy their business and make working men idle. If any man was favoring the destruction of the Evening Post's property, Editor Knott would denounce such a one, and justly so. Certain it is that the brewer and liquor dealers will not have charge of the polls on August 1, and they could not stuff the ballot boxes if they would. From all quarters comes word that either A. O. Stanley or Gov. McCreary would make a much stronger race before the people than Beckham, and that Louisville is almost solidly against him. But we may look for the Evening Post to shout "fraud" and blame the "whisky interests" when its candidate is defeated.

SCENTS DANGER.

That danger stalks behind the Carnegie and Rockefeller foundations and that they are agencies that menace true academic freedom and defeat the primary purpose of democracy in schools, was brought out at the convention of the National Educational Association, which must be looked upon as good authority. The convention expressed its conviction and censure in the following resolution, adopted without a dissenting vote:

"We view with alarm the activity of the Carnegie and Rockefeller foundations, agencies not in any way responsible to the people, in their efforts to control the policies of our State educational institutions; to fashion them after their conceptions; to standardize our courses of study, and to surround the institutions with conditions which menace true academic freedom and defeat the primary purpose of democracy as heretofore preserved inviolable in our common schools, normal schools and universities."

Coming from such a source, this should awaken our citizenship and prevent further encroachments upon our educational institutions by two men who have no care for the masses of the people. That Carnegie's and Rockefeller's scheme lacks merit has long been apparent, and the above declaration was worthy the convention.

WOMEN HAVE NERVE.

Premier Asquith recently received a delegation of representatives from the working women's branch of the suffragettes, listened courteously to what they had to say, and then as courteously declined to grant their request that a women suffrage bill should be introduced in Parliament at the present session. That was to have been anticipated. How these women could expect any sane, law respecting person to favor granting them suffrage, after the many exhibitions they have been giving of their irresponsibility and unfitness, isn't easy to conceive.

DIFFERENCES IN OPINION.

For the benefit of some who are unable to allow for anyone else's opinion, we quote the following from Philosopher Mann: "Do not think of knocking out another's son's brains because he is different from you. It is a rational to knock out the bar and because of the said:

ASQUITH.

Premier Asquith has now been in office for over six years, a longer period than any but three men since the days of Lord Liverpool. Though the strain upon his administration has been great the Premier seems to thrive. While he has aged somewhat, and so have all those who have gone through the last few strenuous years with him, he is still master of the House of Commons, where as a tactician none come within miles of him. With the settlement of the Ulster situation he will be able to look back upon a long and unbroken series of successes.

When autocrats come here from other towns and cities they should observe the speed laws. There is no valid reason why our courts should be more lenient with the stranger than the resident. Were the case murder would our court officials make a distinction? The only way to make safe person and life is to enforce the law on all alike.

New York City Orangemen held their Twelfth of July parade last Sunday in Jersey City. With them were two Junior Order councils, the whole making an insignificant showing. Though it was the Sabbath the speakers made dire predictions for the future of this country, and then the crowd went to dancing and drinking.

Gifts aggregating $1,068,387 were made to the Catholic University the past year. The flourishing condition of this great educational institution is now obvious to the most casual observer. The university has now 400 registered students.

England's best friend and Ireland's worst enemy in the United States are John Devoy and the Gaelic American, but fortunately both are impotent.

CHANGE FOR THE BETTER.

His many friends throughout the city will be rejoiced to learn that this week there was a slight change for the better in the condition of the Rev. Father Louis C. Ohle, pastor of St. Martin's church. For two months Father Ohle has been suffering from rheumatism and for a time was unable to either speak or hear. He is now able to move about the rectory, and it is hoped that his condition will so improve as to allow him to soon seek the benefits of the watering resorts.

CATHOLIC FEDERATION.

Despite the extreme heat that prevailed there was a large attendance at the regular monthly meeting of the Catholic Federation, held at the Visitation Home. President Ganz occupied the chair and Secretary Thomas Dolan presented the communications and announced that the Archbishop Ireland address and the Federation Bulletin would be received for next month's meeting. Treasurer Jacob Hubbuch stated that the Catholic church directory would be placed in the leading hotels of the city and that the Federation had no bills outstanding. The Committee on Laws announced that its revision of the constitution and by-laws was nearly completed and will be ready for submission very soon. Chairman Peter J. Dowling reported that the catalogue of Catholic books in the Public Library was being printed and would be ready for distribution at the next meeting. After allowing the per capita tax for the national body President Ganz asked all members to attend the next meeting, when delegates will be chosen for the Baltimore convention that meets in September.

SUMMER SCHOOL.

The arrival at Cliff Haven of the Very Rev. John P. Chidwick, D. D., President of the Catholic Summer School, and the celebrations connected with the flag-raising exercises of the Albany Cottage, at which a pilgrimage under the auspices of the fourth degree members of the Knights of Columbus of Albany was present, brought to a close a week which will long be remembered by the guests of the Cliff Haven institution. Father Chidwick arrived at Cliff Haven on Saturday morning and received an enthusiastic welcome from the patrons and officers of the Summer School, all of whom had been looking forward to his arrival with eager anticipation. The reverend President came on the early morning train and after a brief rest made a visitation to all the cottages on the grounds. In the afternoon he spoke to the Knights of Columbus at the flag raising exercises of the Albany Cottage, delivering a patriotic address which was a masterpiece of oratory and eloquence. At the conclusion of the imposing ceremony of the flag raising the Knights and their friends took dinner at the dining hall of the Summer School restaurant and then departed for Albany by special train. The week's educational programme and the outdoor exercises and amusements made the time pass pleasantly for a large crowd of students, who are enjoying every moment of their stay.

Louis Guerguen, eighty years old, died early Sunday morning of senility at the pastoral residence of St. Francis Xavier's Cathedral at Vincennes, Ind., in which he was ordained fifty-five years ago, and which he later served for seventeen years as rector until his retirement a few years ago. Before being stationed at Vincennes Father Guerguen held pastorates in St. Mary's of the Woods, New Albany; Logansport, Madison and St. Mary's of the Woods. He was also a great factor in industrial Vincennes. His funeral was held Friday, attended by clergy from all parts of Indiana.

life is about thirty-three years. One-quarter of the people of the earth die before the age of six, one-half before the age of sixteen, and only about one person out of each 100 born lives to sixty-five. The average experience of mortality shows the

At 10—49 years longer.

At 20—42 years longer.

At 30—35 years longer.

At 40—28 years longer.

At 50—20 years longer.

At 60—14 years longer.

has retired from the field of her scholastic attainments to the world's wider circle, or the more sacred one of home, it might not be amiss to speak the retarded word for her sisters of the class of '15, who next year will stand in her place, smiling across the sea of faces with wistful eyes into "the vision of the future far as human eye can see." The word is one for greater simplicity in gowning, in functions, in everything that means expenditure of money, which some of that class of '15 will find so hard to obtain. There was a movement started in some of the public schools this year which our convents might do well to emulate. The custom was inaugurated of having the girls make their own commencement gowns, of some pretty, cheap material, in a modish but modest style—a thing not impossible. Catholic educators and Catholic parents can do much in instructing their young maidens in the beauty of simplicity, and to quote a speaker at one of the commencements, to make them realize that "beauty unadorned is adorned the most." The lesson is not a hard one, and it should be insisted upon. There are many reasons for this simplicity.
Often the girl of moderate means is forced, through the lack of moral courage, to dress in a style out of all proportion to her means or else to appear conspicuous. Often a meal goes to buy the flowers she carries and which are not at all a necessary adjunct to the pretty exercises. Flowers and ribbon and laces mean little to the rich, but to the struggling parents who have to provide them for a daughter for whom they have already made vital sacrifices to secure an education they are the last straw that breaks the camel's back. More uniformity and simplicity would help much, and would indicate refinement and charity in the happiest of combinations.
And it is well to remember while on this subject that not all the extravagances of commencements are monopolized by the girls.LESLEIA REMEDIES.Attention is called to the card in our advertising columns of the Lesleia Fever Remedies Company, which is the product of a formula by Brother Dennis, now stationed at the Sacred Heart Retreat, but who for years was located in the fever-plagued districts of South America doing missionary work. Lesleia is prepared from a plant that grows in South America, where Brother Dennis discovered it while administering to the stricken natives, and which brought relief even in the most malignant cases. The remarkable virtue of this remedy lies in the fact that, instead of depressing the patient, it builds up the system while destroying the fever, this feature being a marvel to the medical world. In addition Lesleia is recognized as a splendid blood purifier and is easy to take, having no bitter taste as in the case of many medicines of that class.BOTTLE TRICK.This trick seems almost impossible, but you can do it. Tie a piece of twine securely around the neck of a bottle, then lay a match on the cork, hold it firmly, bring the ends of the twine up over it and tie a knot forming a loop. You may remove the match to show that you have simply tied a loop. Then insert the match through the loop, rest one end on the cork and lay the other on the projecting edge of the table, when the bottle will swing clear of any obstruction.LATEST IN STYLES.The flare skirt has been launched

P. S. RAY,

Clerk Jefferson County Court of Ky.

LAW SAYS YES.

Louisville, July 14, 1914.—Editor Kentucky Irish American: I have had a dispute with a friend which you can settle by answering this question: If Gov. McCreary should be nominated for United States Senator in the Democratic primary, August 1, and elected in November, would his term begin on March 4 next and would that make Lieut. Gov. McDermott Governor of Kentucky from March to December, 1915? Yours, T. J. L.

Under the constitution of Kentucky Gov. McCreary could not hold two offices at one time. These days Congress is in session every spring and summer. It will be in session in March, 1915. The Governor would of course not leave his seat in the United States Senate vacant and give the Republicans that big advantage. He would go to Washington and be sworn in as a Senator and would cease to be Governor, and then Lieut. Gov. McDermott would automatically become Governor of Kentucky, because the constitution of Kentucky says that whenever the Governor is removed from office, resigns or is absent from the State or is unable from any cause to discharge the duties of his office, his place shall be taken by the Lieutenant Governor.

TWIN CITY LEAGUE.

Quite a tribute was paid to amateur ball and the Catholic Baseball League last Sunday afternoon when a crowd of over 5,000 people attended the game between the Olympics and Champions at Shyenne Park, while about 3,000 people were divided among the other three games in the same league and at the same park. The long continued tie was broken between the two above named teams, the Champions pulling out a well earned victory in the closing innings. The Imperials, who are coming at a rapid clip, easily triumphed over the Trinity team, while the Shamrocks beat Mackin in one of the fastest games of the season. The Bruins shoved the K. of C. further in the cellar, but only after a struggle. The schedule is as follows: Trinity vs. Olympics, Mackin vs. K. of C., Champions vs. Shamrocks, and Bruins vs. Imperials. The standings date:

Club.	Won	Lost	Pct.
Champions	1	0	.917
Olympics	10	2	.833
Bruins	8	4	.667
Shamrocks	6	6	.500
Trinity	5	7	.417
Imperials	5	7	.417
Mackin	2	10	.167
Knights Columbus	1	11	.083

SELECT DR. FOWLER.

Dr. J. W. Fowler, Superintendent of the City Hospital, has been selected to deliver an address on the "Scientific, Economical and Humane Conduct of Municipal General Hospitals in the Southern States" before the convention of the American Hospital Superintendents' Association, which will meet at St. Paul on August 25. Dr. Fowler was selected to make the address because he has visited municipal hospitals in all of the large cities of the United States and is well acquainted with conditions in them. This recognition speaks well for Louisville and its Superintendent.

RIVERVIEW.

The excellent singing bills being presented at Riverview Park are responsible for a most remarkable attendance at that cool and popular resort these hot days and nights. Miss Frances Carleton, a lyric soprano, is greeted every evening and forced to answer numerous encores. Diners in the Riverview restaurant receive the benefit of the cooling Ohio breeze and are loud in their praise of the "Spotless Kitchen" and its service.

No More Attacks!
I feel obliged to express thanks for the good effect which Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic had on our daughter, after she was treated by physicians 4 years and declared incurable, but after she took one-half bottle only of the Tonic the attacks disappeared and no more symptoms since, besides she feels better than before. We are so very glad of such good results, that we hope God will bless the Tonic for the future benefit of others, who may need it. Mrs. Rev. H. Dieter.

Mrs. Ida Damon, of West Upton, Mass., says that she took Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic because she did not sleep well since about a year, but then she slept all right and felt better than for a long time.

Mrs. M. Winkler, of Kenterville, Idaho, gave the Tonic to a 4-year-old girl which had also St. Vitus's Dance, and since then it quite well and healthy.

NARROW ESCAPE.

Miss Frances Greene, the fifteen-year-old daughter of James Greene, the furniture dealer, had a narrow escape from the dangerous automobile last Friday. Miss Greene was driving her pony and cart, and at Johnson and Main they were run into by an automobile of the George Foster company. She was thrown into the street and the cart demolished. The girl was removed to her home, 2007 Letterie avenue, where her injuries, though not serious, were cared for.

HOSPITAL BENEFIT.

Monday night there was a largely attended and enthusiastic meeting of the Executive Committee arranging for the midsummer festival and lawn fete for the benefit of Sts. Mary and Elizabeth Hospital, which will take place on the hospital grounds on Monday and Tuesday, July 27 and 28. Nearly every parish was represented, and the reports point to the largest out-door-festival of the year. On the grounds will be all kinds of amusements, country stores, handsome booths and rotaries and excellent meals beginning at an early hour and continuing until all are served. The noble work of the Sisters of Charity in our midst certainly must appeal to the heart of every man, and their struggle to meet the heavy debt upon their institution renders it necessary that some special effort be put forth by their friends to assist them. The Sisters themselves are doing much of the preliminary work, and it is therefore hoped all will lend a helping hand and lighten their burden. There will be another meeting of the Executive Committee at the hospital Monday night, and it is particularly desirous that all who can be present.

DOUBLE HEADER TOMORROW.

Joe Cantillon's Minneapolis team will be here tomorrow to meet Louisville in a double header, followed by single games Monday and Tuesday, after which the Colonels leave for a trip through the four Western towns, not returning home until August 8. Owner Wathen has greatly strengthened the line-up by the purchase of Midkiff and Daniels, the former batting .357 for forty-one games in the International League last season and fielding .993, while Daniels batted .241 and fielded .959 for the same number of games in that league, these two being sure to add to the aggressiveness of the team on the coming road trip. There is no question of the loyalty of the fans during the present home stay of the club, the week day attendance being remarkable and the fans never giving up until the last man was out. There is only one criticism in regards to the conduct of the games at Ellipse Park, and that is the great latitude allowed the piker betters who frequent the neighborhood of third base, to the great annoyance of many spectators, and the management should put forth every effort to stamp out this nuisance, the betting in many instances being made by shoeing gamblers looking for cheap notoriety.

SPECIAL REGISTRATION.

Today in the County Clerk's office there will be a special registration, when those who were absent from the city, ill and unable to attend or unable to attend on account of illness in their family and did not register last year may have their names placed on the books and be entitled to vote in the primary on August 1. Those who moved into the precinct since the last registration and any who have become of age since last election or will become of age before the November election may also register. The County Clerk's office will be open for this purpose from 8 o'clock in the morning until 12 at night.

BIG FISH FRY.

The Passionist fathers and the people of St. Agnes congregation are arranging something out of the ordinary for the entertainment of their friends, and it is expected large crowds will attend. They have secured Phoenix Hill Park for Monday, August 3, when they will give an all-day fish fry and picnic, the first of its kind here this season, and one that all will enjoy.
